

Produit par le Childhood Disability CoLLaborative de l'Université McGill, Keiko Shikako, chercheuse principale, et l'équipe de recherche YEAH.
Financé par Normes d'accessibilité Canada

Youth Employment through Accessible and Healthy communities in Canada (YEAH Canada)!

Produced by the Childhood Disability CoLLABorative, McGill University, Keiko Shikako, PI, and the YEAH research team.
Funded by Accessibility Standards Canada

SUMMARY	FACTORS CONTRIBUTING TO YOUTH EMPLOYMENT	KEY GAPS & BARRIERS	KEY RECOMMENDATIONS
 We reviewed research on youth employment, best practice youth employment programs in Canada and internationally, associated employment programs and sites. Interviewed key informants including youth with	 Individualized & Strengths-Based Supports Personalized planning, mentoring, coaching and follow-along support build confidence and career	 Information Accessibility Lack of accessible materials (e.g., Braille, ASL/LSQ) and reliance on virtual formats.	 Develop & Enforce Accessibility Standards Establish and mandate universal design standards for all youth employment programs and workplaces.